The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the appeal for funds to finance services to the armed forces, the Allied nations, and the home front.

Keith was joined by Neil Petree, War Chest president, and Preston Hotchkiss, campaign chairman, in expressing appreciation for help in past campaigns, and urging continued cooperation both in enlisting the 60,000 volunteer workers required, and raising the funds necessary to supply the need.

Service groups from 17 cities and numerous towns associated in the annual appeal sent representatives to the meeting. Participating organizations included Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, 20-20, Optimists, Soroptimists, Altruists, Altrians, Toastmasters, Exchange and Squires.
